Canada Day celebrations set

By Janice Harrington

Plans for celebrating Canada's 125th birthday in Didsbury are in place.

Gary Trippel, Town of Didsbury Economic Development Officer and Downhome Didsbury organizer, said a number of local talents and entertainment is scheduled for the celebration to be held Wednesday, July 1.

"This is just a continuation of the Downhome Didsbury event which was started in 1991," he said. "This year we are just adding the 125th birthday and making it a little bit larger."

A new event at this year's celebration will be a model plane flying demonstration by the Didsbury RC flyers. Trippel said the club will be showing off their planes and flying techniques from 1 to 4 p.m. at the model plane flying field northwest of town.

Local talent will also be showcased during the day-long activities. Groups like the Didsbury School Band, Beside Manners and the Didsbury Dance Group will be entertaining along with individuals like Tony Sylvestre, Brenda Cipperly and Sonny Sherman from 6 to 10:45 p.m. along 20th Street between 18th and 20th Avenues which will be closed to traffic during the activities.

Other events will begin at 1 p.m. with face painting, stupid pet tricks, caricature drawings and games for kids of all ages. A color guard and hay rides will also be on hand.

Also, as part of the birthday celebration, elevator movies will be featured again on June 30. The movie will be a double feature with Star Wars and the Return of the Jedi. A concession at the elevator will sell hot dogs and drinks to help raise money for the Build Our Pool Society. Trippel said all events will be moved inside the Didsbury Memorial Complex in case of rain.

The last event of the evening will be fireworks to start at 11:30.

Just warming up

The Build Our Pool Society got into full gear this weekend with the first annual Father's Day 10km Race and Walk. About 70 people participated in this year's event, raising more than $2,500. See the story on page 2.

Flooding problem under study

By Janice Harrington

A sewage flooding problem near the east side of town is again under study after heavy rains last week caused raw sewage to flow into the Rosebud Creek.

Town Administrator Mike Storey said town engineers will again look in to the problem after sewage overflowed at a manhole east of the town on the west side of the creek.

"We had pulled some concrete and stuff out of that line earlier," he said. "But the engineers had to do some flow testing to see the rates during heavy rain storms. Now we have a good indication," he said.

The problem of backup along the sewer line which flows to the lagoon in the Rosebud Valley near Highway 2A had been identified in a sewage study completed in 1989. Previous problems with backup in the West Heights area had led to the construction of a new 18 inch line along the south side of town.

But the overflow last week showed that the problem probably lies with the siphon system which forces the sewage water along two 6 inch pipes towards the lagoon. Storey said the engineers will review the data and determine whether the siphons will have to be replaced or a new piece of line will have to be installed.

Engineering reports on the problem will be presented to council at their next meeting on July 7.

The Didsbury Review will be closed for the Canada Day holiday. We will re-open Thursday, July 2, at 9 a.m.

They say that the first step toward recovery is in admitting that you have a problem. So, O.K. I have a problem. My Name is Noreen Olson and I am a bedding plant addict.

I have an uncontrollable obsession, some terrible compulsion, an inexorable force that guides my faltering footsteps through often grimy portals and into the humid, sweet scented, tropical fecundity of any greenhouse I can find. It drives me from outlet to outlet in a search for just 4 more flats of petunias, 2 more trays of allyssm, and perhaps a dozen tall marigolds. "What, you are all out of petunias, allyssm and marigolds? Well, I see you have some nice snapdragons and those livingstone daisies look healthy. I have never had mimulis before and one can always find a spot for a few pansies and WOW is that a gorgeous gazania."

I have succumbed to the charms of every greenhouse in this county and over the years I have purchased plants at Ponoka, Lacombe, Red Deer, Innisfail, Bowden and Balzac. I have, of course, visited Golden Acres and Sunnyside Greenhouses in Calgary and I have asked relatives to pick up bargain plants at Woodwards (they weren't that great). I have purchased plants in grocery stores and in sidewalk sales. I've bought them out of the back of a pickup truck for heaven's sake and I have paid the ransom on sad looking, leggy, limp, root bound specimens because I felt sorry for them and knew that if I didn't buy them they would die. And did the orphan plants reward me with glorious bloom? No. And did I learn anything from this? No. Because next time maybe they will burst into glorious bloom. You can't tell with plants, they are tricky and sneaky and unpredictable.

I usually begin the garden season with some semblance of good sense. "Because of the new house," I told my sister-in-law, "I think I'll just concentrate on revitalizing the old flower beds, bring in some new earth and make a major effort towards weed control so that when the old house comes down I can plan the new landscaping without fighting the chickweed, groundsel and henbit that have crept into the west bed."

"Sounds like a good plan," she replied, "and I have lots of geraniums started in case you want some color on the deck."

When the west bed was all cleaned up it looked so nice that I decided that nasturtiums would do well tumbling over the logs I had used for edging and if I was planting nasturtiums anyway I might as well put some in the raised bed at the corner of the old house and some in the tubs by the firepit. With the geraniums on the deck and the nasturtiums thriving in their various areas the east bed began to look somewhat forlorn and when the grape hyacinth finished in the round bed under the kitchen window it looked pretty ratty out there too. "Maybe a few petunias," I said, "and some allyssm and I'd better get some impatiens for the big boxes under the spruce tree and how about some trailing lobelia to go in with the geraniums."

There was a lot of winter kill this year and when I had cut down the potentilla from the centre bed there was a big blank space. "Maybe a few asters," I thought, "and some snapdragons or pansies." I got all 3 and they had some lovely, healthy bachelor buttons and they were my Grandma's favorite flower.

I was short a few petunias in the east bed, I would just get two more baskets. They had a deal on petunias, 5 baskets for the price of 4, their gazanias were gorgeous and on sale as well. A bit of blue mink would be pretty with the Iceland poppies and are those livingstone daisies and mercy me, I had forgotten portulaca for the big tub by the doghouse.

I am a bedding plant junkie, a greenhouseaholic, a petunia freak, an allyssm addict. If there is a support group for us I want their number. If there is no group maybe I could begin one.

But meanwhile if I just had 2 dozen more allyssm to edge the east bed I think I could quit on my own.

Running for recreation

About 70 people participated in the first annual BOP Father's Day race last weekend. Business donations were so generous nearly everyone received some sort of prize.

Race to become annual event

By Janice Harrington

The Build Our Pool Father's Day 10km Race will now become an annual event after the successful completion of the first installment last weekend.

Race organizer Joyce Shields said the race raised more than $2,500 for the pool and more may be collected by the time all the pledges are in.

"About $600 was straight entry fees," she said. "The rest was in pledges. The most amount of pledges came from Elaine McCoy. She raised $368."

The race, which started at 10 a.m. Sunday morning, sported three separate events; a 10km race, a 10km 2 person relay, and a 5km walk. Approximately 70 people participated in the three events with prizes going to the top three placers in each age group in the 10km race and to the top three teams in the relay. Prizes were given in the walkers category through random draw.

BOP Vice President Tracy Block said the Society was extremely pleased with the support the fundraising event received from the town.

"We were really pleased with the support from the town and especially from the businesses. They gave some really great prizes. I think people were really impressed with the prizes."

Plans for next year's race are to expand the number of categories by possibly adding a roller blade race and a mountain bike race. Both Shields and Block said the limited amount of time they had to organize this year's event (because of the plebiscite) limited the amount they could plan for.

"This has been our year for growing pains," said Block. "We just needed to work out the kinks and next year we will come back bigger and better."

The next BOP fundraiser will be elevator movies running June 30 starting at 10 p.m. The show will be a double feature of Star Wars and Return of the Jedi. The movies are free and BOP will run a concession on the grounds for refreshments.

BOP will also be running the concession stands during the Downhome Didsbury celebrations on July 1. Money raised by the Build Our Pool Society will be used to construct a water slide and hot tub for the new indoor swimming facility in Didsbury.

Town council notes

By Janice Harrington

The Didsbury Town Council voted at their last meeting to officially recognize Keith Mullen for his contributions to the town.

Mullen, a Didsbury farmer, will be recognized for his assistance in establishing a tourism program within the town as well as for his help in putting together the Canada Day celebration which has become an annual event.

Town council voted to temporarily close 20th Street between 18th Avenue and 20th Avenue on July 1.

The road will be closed to traffic that day between 4 and midnight to allow for community activities to celebrate Downhome Didsbury Day and Canada's 125th birthday.

The Didsbury FCSS will be supporting a Preventative Program Coordinator position at the Didsbury High School next year.

Town Council was told the FCSS will give the program close to $4,430 to help pay for the position in the school between September and December of this year and $8,771 for the position from January 1 to August 31 in 1993.

FCSS support for the program is conditional on the program supporting 20 per cent of their own costs. The actual amount of the grant for the Preventative Program Coordinator is also conditional on the amount of FCSS funds the town receives from the provincial government next year.

A proposal to establish a beer garden for an Elks ball tournament has been supported by town council.

The Elks made the proposal at the last council meeting in the hopes council would support their bid to obtain a liquor licence.

Money made from the sale of beer at the tournament will be used to purchase playground equipment for West Heights Park in Didsbury.

Final payment of the provincial AMPLE grant has been received by the Town of Didsbury.

The grant in the amount of $261,000 was divided up among various community projects.

Didsbury Town Administrator Mike Storey said $123,500 was put into the proposed curling rink reserve, $49,500 was put towards the swimming pool fund and $39,421 was put into the operating subsidization fund.

Storey said the AMPLE program was intended to run until 1995, but the province decided to pay out the remainder of the funds this year. In 1991, Storey said council had voted to replace the outgoing grant with a portion of a mill and the money incoming until 1995 was to be used to subsidize taxes.

The rest of the AMPLE payout will go into a reserve fund to collect interest. A portion of that money will be used in the town's budget every year until the AMPLE funds are entirely replaced by the mill rate.

A resolution to make a donation to STARS was passed at the last meeting of the Didsbury town council.

A grant of $4,264 will be given to the Shock Trauma Air Rescue Society on behalf of the town.

Town Administrator Mike Storey said a portion of the Transportation Assistance grant received from the province every year is set aside to help fund this vital rural service which helps ensure the survival of accident victims by getting them to appropriate treatment as quickly as possible.

The town receives a little over $10,000 a year under this grant. Some of the funding also goes to the hospital for emergency transportation and to the Mountain View Association for the Mentally Handicapped.

A proposal to fill the new reservoir at the Didsbury Golf Course with water from a fire hydrant in West Heights has been turned down by the Didsbury Town Council.

The Golf Club Association had asked that over 3 million gallons of water be taken from the town's reserve of potable water for the reservoir at an estimated cost of $6,000.

But council decided filling a reservoir was not a good use of potable water and refused the request. Water to fill the pond will need to be taken from the course's own water well.

The Town of Didsbury will appeal the conviction of the owner of a bull terrier who attacked a woman and her dog in a Didsbury park last May.

Council will seek to have the dog ordered destroyed as a result of the attack, rather than allowing the owner to only pay $120 in fines as had originally been imposed by a provincial court judge earlier this month.

The woman attacked by the dog is also circulating a petition calling for the dog's death.

The purchase of town land beside the post office is hinging on the purchaser's agreement to destroy the building that now occupies the land.

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

A fun run

By Janice Harrington

I have to give credit to the Build Our Pool Society for managing to organize the Father's Day 10km race and walk. Despite only having a few weeks to really put the event together after the plebiscite, they did a wonderful job of keeping track of everyone, gathering a great pile of prizes and attracting runners from as far away as Calgary to compete.

You have to admit that this group is really committed to their cause. And they are certainly creative in finding neat and interesting ways to raise funds to build the pool. Friday night they finally managed to show the elevator movies which had been rained out so many times before. A friend, visiting from Edmonton, was quite fascinated with the idea of showing a movie on a grain elevator. I think, once the word gets around, that BOP will not only be running a fundraiser, but a tourist attraction as well.

Because of the great job the members of BOP are doing to help cut down our tax expenses to build the pool, I would think that every one in this town would really get together and support their efforts. But apparently there are still a few spoil sports who refuse to believe in the rule of democracy. Chad, my pace mate through the race on Sunday said one lady practically slammed the door in his face when she found out what he was collecting pledges for. Now I know that this has been a controversial issue, but the time for arguing sides is over. The majority has spoken and we are going to build a pool in Didsbury. Let's act like adults instead of spoiled kids who take the game home because they lost the first round.

I am continually amazed at the amount of hype surrounding Eric Lindros. I mean, I know the guy is a good hockey player, but to have to bring in an arbitrator to settle the decision over who is going to get the privilege of paying for him with tonnes of cash and all the best players already on the team? Good grief, even the Gretzky trade to L.A. didn't get as much press before the fact.

One good thing has come out of this, at least the Flames are out of the running for him. I would have been quite upset if Fleury was traded for the hot shot. Especially considering that the last thing Calgary needs is another ego-maniac. We just got rid of Gilmour.

Pool decision praised

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Mrs. Robert H. Ross' letter to the editor which appears in the June 16 issue of The Didsbury Review. Mrs. Ross expressed dismay over the results of the plebiscite on Didsbury's new pool.

Her first comments concerned the results of the plebiscite where 62% of the voters were in favor of the pool. She believes that "in a truly just society, the will of the majority should not force the minority to pay." As far as individual rights go, a democracy is not a "just society," however, we live in a democracy, and a democracy is a state in which the government rests directly with the majority of its citizens. People who do not like a "majority rules" system have the freedom to live elsewhere. The privilege of living in a particular community means sharing the expenses. A democratic system means the individual can choose where to live. If that individual does not want to share the expenses, he or she can move to a different community. (Personally, I was more concerned with the poor voter turn-out.) Mrs. Ross is also concerned that "prospective residents may decide to look for a less costly location." That again, is their choice. However, I believe that prospective residents will see the new swimming pool as an advantage, not a tax burden. My family certainly did.

Now someone will say, "yeah, she lives in the country. Her taxes won't go up." That may be true, but concerned rural citizens could send a $100.00 cheque once a year to the BOP to show their support and willingness to accept the financial expenses in their preferred community.

More public services in a community means more people, and to serve those people, more business services will develop, and the more business services, the healthier the community, and that is a benefit for all residents and the people who frequent that community.

Mrs. Ross is concerned about the farm and business bankruptcies. One reason there are bankruptcies is because people are not spending, and managers of operations (business and farmers) extend themselves too far. Just because Didsbury residents want a pool does not mean they are not living in a real world. At least they were given a choice to have their taxes raised. If you think about it, the funding of the pool is really just a subsidy that everyone pays, for the betterment of everyone, similar to farm fuel taxes, NISA, the Wheat Board, and other government programs. Has she given any consideration to the number of Didsbury and Carstairs dollars that will be spent this year in Innisfail, Olds, and Airdrie, while our children learn to swim?

Mrs. Ross is concerned with, and rightly so, the plight of the homeless, the increase in crime, and the quality of family life. She might consider that if people were satisfied with less, we would not have to have dual income families. However, the philosophy of a democratic country is only a reflection of the philosophy of its people.

My family is looking forward to the construction of Didsbury's new pool.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Kathleen Windsor,
Didsbury

More documentary dissent

Dear Editor:

I refer to a letter, published recently in your newspaper, over the signature of Brian McKenna, Director, and Arnie Gelbart, Producer, of the CBC series, "The Valour and the Horror."

The record should be corrected. The authors of this letter state that, under the sponsorship of The War Amputations of Canada, I have undertaken an expensive campaign to discredit the series and ultimately get it banned.

The only expense, thus far, has been to place a number of notices in newspapers. Where there was a charge, it came from my own pocket.

I wonder how your readers will feel when they realize the reference made by Mr. McKenna and Mr. Gelbart to a letter I wrote praising the series is misleading in the extreme. My letter referred only to Part I, which dealt with Hong Kong veterans. My letter states, "I am at a loss to cite a single historical error."

Their letter suggests that "overwhelmingly" 6,000,000 Canadians shared my reaction to the first film, which was positive

Tree planting

Hon. Roy Brassard, MLA
Olds-Didsbury Constituency

Every year tree planting activities in Alberta's forests increase dramatically as small armies of tree planters descend on the woods in much the same way as they have since the 1960s. In the past 10 years, almost 271 million trees have been planted in the forests of northern Alberta and the foothills. This year they'll be planting 56.6 million seedlings. By the late 1990s, between 95 to 100 million seedlings will be planted each year.

Pine Ridge Forest Nursery in Smoky Lake, northeast of Edmonton, is the core of Alberta's seedling supply program. This is one of the largest and most modern facilities of its type in North America—and is equivalent to four-and-a-half football fields under greenhouse glass. Recent additions and improvements to the nursery mean annual production has increased from 22 million to 30 million seedlings.

The nursery employs 27 year-round staff, and up to 250 during peak periods. Additional employment opportunities occur when the contractors and hundreds of part-time staff move through the forests each summer.

Pine Ridge Forest Nursery has also established a Commercial Tree Nursery Section, whose job is to contract Alberta's private nurseries to produce seedlings. The program began in 1988 with two commercial growers. It now includes 13 new businesses located throughout Alberta from Medicine Hat to Grande Prairie. These producers are expected to be producing between 55 million and 60 million seedlings a year by the mid-1990s.

Seed-bearing cones are collected from the forest and sent to the nursery where seed is extracted from the cones and cleaned. The seed is bagged and marked according to its place of origin, and then kept in cold storage until required. Nursery workers test the seed's germination capabilities and high-quality seeds are sown either in the greenhouses or in outdoor fields. Large amounts of seed are also used in aerial seeding programs in the forest.

After a year or so the nursery seedlings are planted in cutover or burned areas of the forest, within a few kilometres of where the seed was collected. This helps maintain genetic qualities and adaptability of seedlings on the planted sites.

Reforestation of areas harvested for timber production has been required by law in Alberta since 1966, and standards and techniques are constantly monitored and revised as new technology becomes available.

If you would like further information on Forest Management in Alberta, or just want to voice your concerns, please phone my constituency office at 556-3132 or my office in Edmonton at 422-0141 (collect).

The National Debt - It Will Be Beaten

The national debt is one of the two great challenges of this government. When the Federal Conservative Government was elected in the mid 1980's the Federal Fiscal Deficit was 8½% of the Gross Domestic Product (GDP), which can be thought of as 8½% of the income of our country. Financial experts were very concerned.

In the current fiscal year the Federal Deficit was 4¼% of the country's income (GDP). This is a big improvement but it is only through continued deficit reduction that a solid economic environment can be assured.

Strong economic growth in the years ahead is crucial for Canada.

Internal policies to remove inter-provincial trade barriers, measures to improve the operation of the labour markets, and a healthy foreign trade are essential for strong economic growth.

Economic strength is showing in 1992 first quarter gains:

1. The profits of Canadian companies increased 5%.
2. GDP increased every month of the first quarter.
3. Building permits and housing starts were up.
4. Manufacturing shipments were up, and
5. Labour productivity in Canadian business was up. (All gains recorded by Statistics Canada).

The strength, stability, and openness of the Canadian economy are important for the rest of the world as well as for Canada. The world community looks to Canada as a good international citizen. Today that includes economic responsibility. That is why the international organizations are commenting, so positively, about our economy.

Joint meeting a success

The meeting theme: "Joining Hands - Reaching Out" was truly experienced by all delegates of The Women of Uniform and The Alberta Women's Institute when they met for a joint annual meeting June 9th to 11th.

It was agreed and resolved that the two would work together with those community service agencies to assist the rural community on issues of disability and to seek avenues of successful living for rural Albertans.

All delegates agreed that the convention had been beneficial and similar arrangements for future conventions would be considered.

Delegates from both organizations had the opportunity to review each other's resolutions and accept in principle those that were not already policy in their own organization.

Delegates of Women of Uniform and the Alberta Women's Institutes dealt with 22 resolutions.

Women of Uniform delegates approved resolutions calling for:

Chamber increases Canadian pride

By Barry Williams

As this is Canada's 125th anniversary as a Country, the Carstairs and District Chamber of Commerce is trying to instill some Canadian pride into the community of Carstairs.

On Canada Day, July 1, 1992, the local Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring Carstairs Canada Day Celebration and they are encouraging area residents to help them celebrate the country's unity.

An evening of fun and enjoyment is planned commencing with a potluck supper at 5 p.m. being held at the new community hall. Following this, the organizing committee is planning to present an array of local talent to entertain the audience. The day's activities will conclude with these entertainers as well as others playing and singing a chorus of "O Canada" as the giant Canadian Flag cake is being cut by members of the Carstairs Chamber of Commerce.

As for the potluck supper, coffee, juice, milk and ice cream will be supplied. Those attending the celebration are requested to bring food, plates, cups and utensils.

"We are hoping residents of Carstairs and area will join the Carstairs Chamber of Commerce and join us by showing some Canadian pride and spirit by celebrating Canada's 125th birthday," said organizer Brian Pound.

"This is a night of fun and enjoyment with absolutely no cost to the community," he added.

In acknowledging the abundance of talent throughout the area, the Chamber of Commerce is encouraging these entertainers to perform at the celebration. According to Pound, the committee is looking for musicians, singers and dancers. Those interested in showing their Canadian spirit by entertaining can contact Brian Pound at 337-2290 or Barry Williams at 337-2402.

"It is hoped this Canada Day Celebration will become an annual event," said Councillor Anne Strilchuk, who urged the Chamber of Commerce to become involved in a Canada Day activity.

The Canada Day Celebration is a fitting gesture towards the Carstairs Chamber of Commerce directive of promoting the community through the sponsorship and organization of local events such as the 4-H Show and Sale, the Stampede Appreciation Day, Beef and Barley Days Breakfast and Santa's New Hall Sneak A Peak.

In other news from the hallowed chambers of the Chamber of Commerce, there is a need for a volunteer coordinator to organize the Urban Crime

Watch, a neighborhood patrol program aimed at curbing the numerous break and enters occurring at Carstairs businesses. Also, the Chamber of Commerce is seeking an individual to act as chairperson for the Community Tourism Action Plan Committee and a community member is needed to represent Carstairs on the Board of Directors for the David Thompson Country Tourist Council.

As the Chamber of Commerce is taking a recess for the summer months, the next general meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, September 15 at noon in the new community hall.

SUNDRE/WESTWARD HO NEWS

Reformer optimistic about election chances

By Janice Harrington

Recently elected Reform Party candidate Myron Thompson is comfortable with his chances for the upcoming federal election.

Thompson, who took the nomination to run as the Reform candidate in the Wild Rose constituency over his nearest competitor Bert Brown on June 13 said he is much more calm about the federal election than he was with the nominations.

"I feel much more confident about the upcoming election than I did about the one that just passed," he said. "I knew that one would be tough because there were a lot of great people on that ballot."

But Thompson, former mayor of Sundre and insurance salesman, said he has much work to do before the election despite his confidence.

"I really want to get out and talk to a lot of people," he said. "I want to get out into the constituency and broaden the base. I want to talk about people's ideas, meet with the farmers and the oilmen and see what they want and what they think about government involvement in their industries."

Thompson, who has been branded a "redneck" by some for his harsh beliefs about crime and punishment, said he also plans to work towards changing the treatment of criminals in the criminal system.

"It seems the emphasis is on doing all we can for the criminal, trying to get them rehabilitated. But we are having a lot of problems with repeat offenders," he said. "We need to protect the innocent."

Thompson said he doesn't believe the laws need to be changed, but only that judges need to lean towards handing out heavier sentences.

"In all the laws there are minimum and maximum sentences and the judges just need to lean towards the maximum rather than the minimum like they have been doing."

Thompson said his biggest plan for helping out the Wild Rose riding is to talk to the people so that he knows the kind of issues they want him to represent in Ottawa.

"I believe strongly in giving the people what they want and I support the referendum on the constitution," he said. "I think we are going to be surprised by the number of people who come out strongly in favor of unity. I personally don't believe Quebec should separate. I think we all need to look at ourselves again and see just how great a country we are."

But before starting his tour around the riding to talk to the people, (over 4,000 of which are registered Reform Party members) Thompson said he plans to take a little break after the rigors of the election.

"I'm going to take a week off right now and do some meditating and some thinking. Then I'll just be raring to go."

Charges laid in hit and run

By Janice Harrington

Three charges were laid last week after a teenager was hit by a car in Sundre.

Gregory Barry Young of R.R. #2, Olds, was charged with impaired operation of a motor vehicle causing injury, dangerous operation of a motor vehicle causing injury and failure to remain at the scene of an accident.

Sundre RCMP said the charges were laid after Young allegedly struck and ran over a 16-year-old man in the early morning hours on June 14. RCMP added that both the driver of the car and the victim had been drinking at the same house in Sundre before the accident occurred.

The 16-year-old was taken to a Calgary hospital for treatment of his injuries which are not considered life threatening.

Young is scheduled to appear in Sundre Provincial Court to answer to the charges on July 14.

CREMONA/WATER VALLEY NEWS

Annual Cremona Day plans set

By Janice Harrington

All the events are in place and prizes ready for the 1992 Cremona Day to be held July 1.

Village Administrator Cleta Haggerty said the Chamber of Commerce has done a great job of organizing this year's Cremona Day which will also celebrate the 125th birthday of Canada.

"This is something that has been going on since the 1940's," she said. "And you really have to give the Chamber of Commerce credit, they have done just an excellent job of organizing."

The day, which boasts one of the most extensive celebrations of Canada Day around the county includes a pancake breakfast, parade, games for kids and adults, handicraft show, slopitch tournament, 4-H club show, talent show and fireworks.

"Practically the whole town gets involved," Haggerty said. "It's a real family day and a lot of people come back to visit with their families or come back because they lived here before. Some people just come back year after year."

On top of the annual celebrations that are part of Cremona Day, this year organizers have also signed up with Canada 125 and are making paper and other artist supplies available for everyone to "make a banner." The hall will be open all afternoon for kids and adults to create their very own banner in celebration of Canada's 125 birthday.

The day's events start out at 8 a.m. with a pancake breakfast at the fire hall and continue with the annual parade. Family games and races will begin at 11 a.m. at the ball diamond. Local artist Hector Elliott will open his home to show off his work from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The mixed slopitch tournament will begin at 1 p.m. and the hose laying competition will begin at the hall at 2:30 p.m. Supper will start off with the Chili Cookoff judging and the eating will start at 5:30. The Jackson building for the historical society," said Storey. But the demolition of the old building may also impact on a grant application currently before the Main Street Alberta program made through the Downtown Revitalization Committee. Under the program, old buildings are restored and tied into a common historical theme for the downtown core to attract tourism.

W.I. have organized a handicraft show and classes at the Gold and Silver Centre between 1 and 4 p.m. The talent show will begin at 7:30 at the hall and the day will end up with fireworks at dusk.

Storey said council has only agreed to the destruction of the building because of its current state of disrepair. He said it would just cost too much money

Storey said purchase of the land on which the Old Sunlife building sits is currently under negotiation. The town is asking that the possible purchaser agree to tear down the building rather than have the town do it.

"Council decided that the cost of taking down that building was just too expensive, so they counter offered on 4 conditions, one being the demolition of the building, one being the disconnection of all utilities, also the clean up after the demolition and that the purchaser save a large portion of the facade from the

to fix up.

The building currently houses Realty World. Their lease of the property expires at the end of July.

Town council has authorized a review of the Didsbury Recreation plan so appraisals of the land near the proposed swimming facility can be made.

The commercial appraisals will help in negotiations for the sale of the land expected to begin soon with a Calgary developer who wishes to build a motel on the site.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

Agriculture matters

Cash flow and safety nets
By Bill McKnight, Minister of Canadian Agriculture

Agriculture Canada recently released its farm income projections. Realized net farm income for 1992 is expected to reach $4.54 billion nationally, up 40 per cent from last year and the second highest income since 1980.

Some of this increase can be attributed to an improvement in markets and that is heartening news. But the fact is that this increase is due largely to higher government program payments that are offsetting lower market receipts and higher operating costs.

I know all of us would rather see this income coming from the marketplace. What is encouraging about these numbers, however, is that they demonstrate that the improvements we have been making to our farm income safety net system are taking hold and making a difference.

It's still the early days for both the Gross Revenue Insurance Plan (GRIP) and the Net Income Stabilization Account (NISA). We've had to do some finetuning in the year since we introduced them and we can count on doing more as we work at making them available to all farmers.

As part of this transition, last year we introduced Farm Support and Adjustment Measures (FSAM I and II), $1.4 billion in direct federal support to maintain cash flow while GRIP and NISA were being implemented.

Already this year, safety net programs have put approximately $300 million into the hands of farmers. These programs will deliver another $1.3 billion to farmers before harvest.

Over the 1991-92 crop year, GRIP and NISA alone are expected to deliver over $2 billion to farmers.

These programs are helping to get money to farmers when they need it. Our safety net programs this year will account for about 31 per cent of cash flow, compared to 19 per cent last year.

These programs are introducing some of the longer-term income stability that farmers and governments were looking for when they designed them.

The predictability we are trying to achieve in these programs is important. These are anxious times for the family farm business. Programs like GRIP and NISA are providing farmers with a more secure foothold as they adapt to the changing marketplace.

As federal and provincial governments identify funds, I would like to see these programs made available to every farmer across the country. Before we get there, more improvements will have to be made. The federal government is now working with the provinces and farm organizations through a number of committees to make these improvements, and to pave the way for the extension of GRIP and NISA.

Christian graduates

Three students graduated this year from the Olds Koinonia Christian School on June 5. Over 200 people attended the graduation ceremony.

The Olds Koinonia Christian School graduation banquet and ceremonies were held on June 5 at Carstairs Church of God. The three graduates celebrated with close to 100 family and friends at the banquet. A toast to the graduates was given by Mr. Bud Reed, a teacher at the school. He individually commended the graduates for their contributions to the school. Jason Stang, a graduate who has attended O.K.C.S. for 10 years, responded. He thanked the parents and teachers for their commitment to providing a Christ-centered, quality education for the students.

Over 200 people joined in the ceremonies that took place in the sanctuary following the banquet. Ken and Neila Lehman provided the music for the program. The address was given by the new Superintendent of Koinonia Schools, Dennis Punter. He challenged the graduates to increase in the knowledge and wisdom of God so that they can walk worthy of the Lord.

The graduates, Tom Clarke, Rachel Konshuh and Jason Stang, spoke, expressing their desire to walk worthy in the Lord in the decisions and challenges that lay ahead.

Diplomas were presented by the principal, Garry Anderson. Congratulations were given on behalf of the Board by Chairman, Mike Christensen.

Didsbury Library news

Oops!

If you are interested in registering for the Didsbury Library's Summer Club and are wondering at the dates... All the programs start in the second week of July, not in June as our previous information suggested, and run through until the middle of August. We will extend registration until the end of this week so everyone has the opportunity to sign up!

If your child is now in Grades 1 to 4 they can sign up for a once-a-week group activity or register to drop by anytime.

If your child is in Grade 5 to 8 encourage him/her to sign up for our first time ever Reader's Theatre. This program runs Wednesdays, from July 8 to August 12, at 2:00. We'll rehearse scripts (no memorizing involved) until we have polished performances which we already have bookings for!!

Library sports

Don't let your Sport Cards collect dust over the summer holidays!!

Drop by the town library Thursday afternoons at 2:00 during July and August and swap cards with other collectors.

Any interested collector is welcome. You can meet at the back of the library to display your cards.
